

Sample Paragraphs - Tyrone's and Selena's Discovery

At this point the obvious struck Tyrone like an unexpected voice from on high. He had been enjoying this most pleasant of evenings and having a closeness of conversation with another person that was not part of his professional duties. He had also not seen a sexual situation coming and for all of his self-assuredness, he found himself slipping into helplessness. All manner of anxiety started drawing him out of the mellowness that the alcohol, the perfume and pleasant surroundings had initiated. He suddenly became aware of his self-imposed limitations. The awareness of his age and maturing body, particularly in comparison to the youthfulness of this beautiful woman he was with, struck him very hard and made him want to stand up and perhaps take flight. He had never been in this situation before and he sure as shit did not know how to handle it. Most men of his age would be very happy that they had a woman such as this, that appeared to want them for whatever reason. Tyrone was definitely not one of these men. He had too much pride and had had too much time to get used not being desired, so he had no idea of how to deal with the attention.

For her part, Selena had no such concerns or reservations. She was well aware of what she was doing and precisely what she was doing was solidifying her position with both Diana and Tyrone. She knew exactly what state of mind she had placed Tyrone in and it gave her power. He would never be able to relax and perform and she knew why because this was something she had plenty of experience with in this lifetime as well as in a past incarnation that she could recall.

And so, Selena did what only she knew how to do when it came to sex and men. She backed off from Tyrone and took his hand into hers. This gave him pause and a chance to relax and regain control of his emotions. She then let her fingers caress his cheek and asked him what was bothering him. He gazed at her for almost a full minute before he could speak, but managed a reply. "Selena, I am very attracted to you, but I don't have confidence in myself. I cannot believe that I am physically up to what you deserve. It has been so long since I have been able to be comfortable in situations such as this. I haven't even thought or dreamed of being with a woman like you in a long time."

Selena now moved closer to Tyrone, again grazing his cheek with her hand lightly and said, "I think I understand what you are dealing with and it would not do any good for me to tell you that you are wrong. You are capable of pleasing me Tyrone, but I want to do something special to make you understand this. All I need is for you to relax your psychic barriers and let me show you something you probably have never conceived of."

"If you are going to try and hypnotize me, I doubt if that is going to work Selena and it seems absurd to think that succumbing to suggestions is going to promote romantic feelings and more importantly, an adequate performance from me."

"No Tyrone, I am not proposing that at all. I'm just going to release something that is inside both of us. You are free to stop seeing and feeling any of this whenever you want to. Just relax and share your consciousness with me. Let me guide you to somewhere that you want to be and something that you want to become. It will help you get to know me"

Tyrone was beginning to be suspicious of what was happening. "Does Diana know anything about what you are proposing?"

"She knows what I am capable of and I wouldn't be surprised if she has maneuvered us into this situation. She seems to be in control more than most us would like. But I do know that she would never do anything to harm you Tyrone. You are most likely the most important person in her life."

"Not too surprising to me if she is involved and that being the case, I would not consider resisting whatever she has in mind. Also Selena, I may be weak when it comes to an emotional situation like this but I assure you that I would be able to stop you if I felt a need to."

"I am sure you could, but you will not want to block me from what I am proposing for both of us."

With that conversation out of the way, Selena used her innate consciousness to connect with Tyrone's, but found a strong barrier to a complete merging, but she continued to push very gently against his resistance. Tyrone was aware of his hesitancy, but remembered that Diana had asked him to let Selena into his consciousness upon her request and this gave him the resolve to drop his psychic barrier. Selena sensed Tyrone's resistance fade and quickly began to locate the segment of his brain that controlled his emotions. Tyrone was aware of this movement on Selena's part, but as he was in full control of what was happening, he relaxed and let it happen. His free will was still in control so any violation was not a concern. Spiritual law would not allow Selena to overcome his will or for him to allow such a thing to happen.

Then something surprising took place and Tyrone was so emotionally and intellectually taken aback that he had an impulse to block Selena's probing, but he didn't as the pleasure centers in his brain were beginning to register something he had never experienced before. He of course had the ability to recall all of the pleasure and pain sensations that he had ever experienced in his uncountable lifetimes, but this was something entirely new to him.

From somewhere inside his consciousness came an almost intolerable sensation of lust and he understood that a hormonal surge had occurred as testosterone flooded into his body. This had never happened to him before and Tyrone immediately understood that he had been connected to the base primal urges that humanity had buried in their steady evolutionary march to where they were at present. He still had the ability to throw this off but decided to let it run as long as he knew he could control it.

Selena had determined that this new sexual stimulus that she had introduced into Tyrone's body would allow him to overcome his performance anxiety, but she also wanted him to dramatically increase his enjoyment potential. She knew that the best way to achieve this was to obscure his current image of self and replace it with a fantasy counterpart. She accomplished this by using her talent of creating new narcissistic representations by manipulating the area of the brain that provokes imagination. This technique is used by all humans to fantasize and create new conceptions to various degrees and particularly when attempting to increase their sexual interests. Selena knew how to take these imagining's to far greater extremes and she decided to really have fun with this technique.

She started by creating a visual manifestation of their being original pre-human primates before the Zenithians, who were superior beings that originally created mankind and had inserted the human genome into them. These lightly furred creatures had no morality as part of their psychic makeup and therefore no restrictions to what they could do or not do. As hormones flooded into their physical system both Tyrone and Selena gave into the impulses that were dominating their thoughts and bodies. They threw off all of their clothing and dropped to the floor and gave way to the urges they were feeling. Tyrone leaped on top of Selena and without any foreplay penetrated her from behind while emitting growls and snarling the entire time. The sexual urges that were being demonstrated in these creatures was in large part a rage, probably due to the usual brief nature of these acts. It was important for the male animal to complete the act of releasing his seed before the female could retaliate with her fangs or manage to escape. Selena, for her part whimpered and remained submissive for a few seconds, until she used her elbows to surge upward and rolled him off of her back. The imagined hair on her body stood stiffly upright in a defensive display but this only heightened Tyrone's resolve to dominate this female. A fully aroused Tyrone swung his arm sharply at Selena's head and knocked her over onto her back and he moved onto her in an attempt to subdue her by the dominant force of rape.

At this point, Selena, who was far more self-aware than Tyrone was, knew that Tyrone was visualizing something other than his present day self-image. She then quickly triggered other visual images in both of their minds and the attack by Tyrone immediately ceased but the hormonal surges continued. But now they would see each other in entirely new bodies, constructed from each other's preferential viewpoints.

Selena, although prone on the ground appeared taller and even more beautiful than she had first appeared to Tyrone. Her skin tone was a slightly darker brown than normal for her and her teeth were a perfect glistening white. As she stood in front of Tyrone, Selena displayed the most ideal firm and rounded breasts, a slim waist and had a pure perfection of form for every other part of her body. For his part Tyrone was suddenly much younger, with a tall, very well proportioned and defined muscular body. His grey hair had been replaced by wavy black hair and his eyes were a moist shimmering gemstone like grey. He was perfectly endowed in every way and presented himself as the perfect man he never was, but had always desired to be. They both radiated an extreme sexuality born from each others attraction as they gazed upon a physical perfection created from their individual minds. Their bodies radiated an alluring and odorous warmth that created intense pheromones, serving to invoke the greatest desire for each other.

Now he stood naked before this beautiful woman, as a man who had no apologies to make for himself or to offer to anyone else. He moved toward Selena who fell into his arms and surrendered herself to him. She also saw him in this same perspective. Gone visually were the animals who had just moments before gave way to the baser animal instincts and passions and now these two beautiful and physically perfect humans, complete with these same primitive urges were ready to commit themselves to each other while at the absolute height of their sexual desires. There was no concern in Tyrone's mind that this was an illusion created by him at Selena's urgings.

Their intense desire for each other insured that no action that might please the other was off limits. There were no taboos and no internal or outside influences that were allowed to divert their focus from each other. If they desired an expression of their sexual needs, it was granted by the other and acted upon. The frenzy of their lovemaking went on for hours and when spasms of pleasure began to crest, each would use their will to subside those releases and they would lie quietly together and enjoy the heat and scents of each others body until the urge to begin again overcame their weakness and spurred them on again.

Ultimately, pure exhaustion determined that they must give in to the most intense urge to finish the exquisite form of torture that Tyrone had ever experienced and they let it happen, with both of them releasing the passion from their bodies, demonstrated with verbal moans, whimpers and tears. They continued to lie together on the floor for a long time remembering and enjoying what they had just experienced. They would not, could not ever forget this night as this was no false illusion such as a dream might issue but rather as a real life experience and would imprint on their memories in the same manner as an every day occurrence would from here on out.